No delay seen in replacing landfill contractor

By AGNES E. DONATO
REPORTER

The Fitial administration expects no delay in finding a replacement for the Marpi landfill contractor that the government dismissed recently.

Lt. Gov. Timothy P. Villagomez said Friday that the Department of Public Works has drafted a new request for proposals for the landfill operation.

"I don't anticipate a long time of delay. It is also my understanding that Public Works will have adequate time and resources to continue with the program themselves until we hire a new contractor," Villagomez.

The new administration has terminated the $9.9 million contract signed by its predecessor with Pacific Drilling-Saipan Waste Management for the operation of the Marpi landfill.

Greg Apa, president of the contracting company, said he received the termination notice on March 7 and had the company's equipment removed from the site late last week.

Apa, who appeared at the governor's weekly press conference Friday, said that he had sent several letters to the administration offering help with the transition. But he never got a response.

"Based on our discussion, DPW is capable to do the transition. There won't be a long period of delay. There's no reason why the RFP should not be out in the next three weeks or so," Villagomez said.

Public Works Secretary Jose Demapan said the department has hired a new contractor to provide emergency services at the Marpi landfill. The new company was not disclosed.

The Babauta administration signed the contract with Pacific Drilling on Feb. 2003. The deal called for an annual payment of $1 million to the contractor for a period of five years.

The contract included a provision allowing the government to terminate the contract without having a reason for doing so.

The administration's cost of the contract was expensive and ran in contrast to its austerity policy.

square meters to Hyun, Bae and Hoon; and 990 square me-

Torres said that in March 1996, the Superior Court, pursuant to a stipulation to terminate Jang's right to the 6,450-square meter lot, terminated and extinguished all of Yang's rights on the property in its entirety.

A landowner has filed a lawsuit against seven persons to clear the title of his 6,450 square meters of land in Koblerville.

Jesus Laura Atalig sued Doo Young Jang, Yun Sir Park, Lee Ho Kun, Hwang Kyu Hyun, Shin Rin Bae, Shin Hoon, and Lee Eun Baik, all Koreans.

Atalig, through counsel Joaquin DLG, Torres, asked the Superior Court to require the defendants to set the nature of their claims to the property. Torres demanded that all adverse claims to such property be determined by a court decree.

The decree, Torres said, should adjudge that Atalig owns in fee simple, and is entitled to peaceful possession of the land and that defendants have no estate, right, title, lien, or interest in or to the property.

The lawyer said the decree should permanently enjoin each defendant from asserting any adverse claim to the title to the property.

Torres stated in the complaint that Atalig inherited the land from his wife, Emilia A. Atalig (deceased) as a result of a probate.

In 1992, Emilia Atalig entered into a 55-year lease agreement with defendant Jang as lessee for the lot containing 6,450 square meters.

Jang subsequently divided the land into five lots, Torres said.

Jang then transferred by assignment of lease the 2,827 square meters of lot to Park; 825 square meters to Kun; 990

Google avoids surrendering search requests

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A federal judge on Friday ordered Google Inc. to give the Bush administration a peek inside its search engine, but rebuffed the government's demand for a list of people's search requests—potentially sensitive information that the company had fought to protect.

In his 21-page ruling, U.S. District Judge James Ware told Google to provide the U.S. Justice Department with the addresses of 50,000 randomly selected Web sites indexed by its search engine by April 3.

The government plans to use the data for a study in another case in Pennsylvania, where the Bush administration is trying to revive a law meant to shield children from online pornography.

Ware, though, decided Google won't have to disclose what people have been looking for on its widely used search engine, handing a significant victory to the company and privacy rights advocates.

"We will always be subject to government subpoenas, but the fact that the judge sent a clear message about privacy is reassuring," Google lawyer Nicole Wong wrote on the company's Web site Friday night. "What his ruling means is that neither the government nor anyone else has carte blanche when demanding data from Internet companies."

Attempts to reach a spokesman for the Justice Department late Friday weren't immediately successful.

Water problems may be solved in farm

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Farms and their wasteful irrigation systems are a major contributor to water scarcity on the globe, nations at a world water summit said Saturday.

Farming accounts for 70 percent of the water consumed and most of its wasteful use, said representatives of 130 nations at the World Water Forum discussing water management.

One-fifth of the world's population lacks safe drinking water, the United Nations said in a report last week that laid much of the blame on mismanagement of resources.

"Farmers are central to the whole picture. They use the majority of the world's water, and farmers are where most of the world's poverty is concentrated," Patrick McCully, director of International River Network, a non-governmental organization, said at the forum.

Agriculture cannot be ignored in the water equation, said Gerald Galloway, a civil engineer and visiting scholar with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

"It is an important part of the U.S. economy, and it's even more important in the developing world," he said. "You have to be able to provide water for agriculture."

With 525 million small farms in the world—and 2.5 billion people living off the land—farmers suffer the most from the problems discussed at the forum: poverty, disease, and the lack of sanitation and clean water.

Drought-parched fields, withered corn stalks and skinny cattle make up the face of the crisis in the developing world.

Getting farmers to use water less extensively is daunting, speakers said.

"There are great problems with irrigation. We must persuade farmers to go to less ex crops," said Michel I former prime minister of "It's a question of changing whole agricultural metho

Former Federal Reserve chair Miller dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Federal Reserve Chairman G. William Miller, who as President Carter's treasury secretary oversaw the government bailout that brought Chrysler back from the brink, has died. He was 81.

Miller, who died Friday night, had suffered from a lung ailment, said Michael H. Cardozo, managing director of Miller's Washington-based merchant banking firm and a former White House counsel for President Carter.

Miller was appointed by Carter to lead the central bank on March 8, 1978. A year later, the president turned to Miller to replace W. Michael Blumenthal as treasury secretary. Paul Volcker then replaced Miller at the Fed.

Miller served as the Treasury from Aug. 6, 1979, to the end of the Carter administration, in January 1981.

He is survived by his wife, Ariadna; three sisters; and two brothers.

Failure to show bond results in denial of worker application

The Department of Labor's administrative hearing office has affirmed the Labor director's decision that denied the owner of Pacific Gardenia Hotel's employment application for an alien worker.

Labor hearing officer Barry Hirschbein, however, found the worker, John Shaolin Delweste Jugos, not at fault and gave him 45 days to submit an application for transfer to a new employer.

Hirschbein said the Labor director denied the employment application for Jugos because SYS Corp., owner of Pacific Gardenia Hotel, failed to provide a bond.

Jugos appeared in the administrative hearing. No one appeared for SYS Corp.

Hirschbein said if Jugos fails to submit a timely application for transfer, the employer of record shall provide his repatriation ticket.

The employee must depart the CNMI within the 10 days after the repatriation ticket is delivered to Labor or the matter will be referred to Immigration, said the Labor hearing officer.

Early this month, six employees of SYS Corp. sought help from Labor due to the alleged decision by the court-appointed receiver to close the hotel, restaurant, and bakeshop.

Six employees of Pacific Gardenia Hotel went to Labor to file a complaint against their employer for alleged non-payment of wages.

Rex Palacios, the court-appointed receiver for SYS Corp., insisted that Pacific Gardenia Hotel, El Segundo Restaurant, and the bakeshop are open. He described as baseless the allegations that he ordered the closure.

In Jan. 2005, Superior Court Associate Judge Juan T. Lizama appointed Palacios to serve as receiver of Pacific Gardenia Hotel and its affiliated businesses.

Lizama made the appointment based on the request of the Commonwealth Development Authority.

CDA sued Sy's Corp. for its failure to pay $2.4 million in loan, accrued interest and late charges. (Ferdie de la Torre)

House endorses filmmaker to top Film Office posit

The House of Representatives has endorsed a Hollywood-trained sound effect editor to the top management position of the yet-to-be created Northern Mariana Islands Film Office.

The House adopted last week a resolution calling for the formation of the NMI Film Office pursuant to a 2002 law and recommending Leonard "Butch" Wolf for the manager position.

Public Law 13-9 created the Film Office within the Marianas Visitors Authority and sought to develop a film industry in the Commonwealth. Specifically, the Film Office was tasked to promote the use of local locations for media production and to assist production outfits in the film permitting process.

House Resolution 15-32 said that the Film Office manager position should be filled and it recommended Wolf for the post.

Wolf, a long-time resident of the Commonwealth, has extensive experience as a Foley or sound editor. He has worked on numerous Hollywood movies, including "The Replacements," "Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil," "Speed

2: Cruise Control," "Absolute Power," "Eraser," "Up Close and Personal," "The Bridges of Madison County," "Unforgiven," "Frankie and Johnny," "The Naked Gun," "Die Hard 2," "The Hunt for Red October," and "Tequila Sunrise."

The resolution also noted that Wolf, through Pacific Rim Academy and Northern Marianas College, "has actively pursued and implemented for the CNMI a complete training and educational facility for our residents in the film and TV industry."

"In the past, film and TV jobs were mainly available to hiring when filming was the CNMI, and Butch W changed that scenario by ing and assisting in the of local residents in the fi TV industry," the res said. (Agnes E. Donato)
